

AUSTRALIANS AT BRIDGE IN A SCOTCH LIKE TRENCH.

The Australians are keen as mustard when fighting may be done as the Hun knows to his bitter cost, but they are equally keen on their amusements. Here is a typical scene during a lull in the fighting.

A MOTOR TRIP THROUGH THE FAR NORTH WEST

Photos by L.H.P.K.

Michiko Creek near Dobson - a sandy crossing.

The (break) - after crossing Sykes and Murderer Rivers between Tormanton and Burkatown.

Sykes River, on the Tormanton-
Burkatown road.

The first breakdown near Mount
Sardis, on the road to Tormanton.

Kamodwah - starting for Grandangle.

Nicholson River - Horse Crossing, near Burkatown.

THE SOUTH BRISBANE BRIDGE OF THE BRISBANE RIVER AS SEEN FROM THE NEW GOVERNMENT SAVINGS BANK BUILDING.

—A. J. White photo.

KING STREET, BRISBANE, LOOKING EAST.
View from the New Savings Bank Building.

—A. J. White photo.

GEORGE STREET, BRISBANE, LOOKING WEST.
From the same vantage point as the previous photo.

—A. J. White photo.

MR. KENNETH MYERS,
Vice Chairman of the Commonwealth
Bank Council.MRS. KENNETH MYERS.
—Bridal photo.MR. C. CAMPBELL COOK,
Vice Chairman of the Commonwealth
Bank Council.MR. KENNETH MYERS,
Vice Chairman of the Commonwealth
Bank Council.MR. C. CAMPBELL COOK,
Vice Chairman of the Commonwealth
Bank Council.MR. KENNETH MYERS,
Vice Chairman of the Commonwealth
Bank Council.

A ROYAL MARRIAGE

Our London social columnist, writing on December 20 concerning the engagement of "Princess Louise, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall" is called attention to the marriage appeared in our last issue says "Of course you have heard of Princess Louise's engagement. She is our most popular princess. Princess Louise is not only a very fine example of our princesses, and princesses in the future, whereas our other royal ladies seem to be a rather poor type of their own."

Commander the Hon. Alexander Kennedy, K.C., R.N., who is Lord Selkirk's brother, is looked upon as being a very lucky man. He was formerly on the Duke of Cornwall's staff in Canada, and the two families have been another very well, and an ever and it is hoped that the match is really a fine match. It is to be hoped it is true, as the prince is deeply beloved by the English and is the most beautiful of all the royal family and the most charming.

Commander the Hon. Alexander Kennedy, K.C., R.N.

Princess Louise of Cornwall

WITH OUR BOYS IN PALESTINE

Group of British officers and their guard standing in front of an old mosque in Amman.

Turkish reconnoitering party of Amman, the largest reconnoitering party, in the foreground, with hills in the background.

Some of the guns captured by the 5th Australian Light Horse Regiment at Amman.

LACEYVILLE SYDNEY'S MODEL SUBURB

Photos by J. Lister and G. Stand

SEE SKETCHER

The first buildings seen are the shops.

The Garden Theatre and Club.

A workman's cottage.

No fences in front.

A rising stone forms the front boundary.

Every house has its beds of bright flowers.

A neat little home.

An inviting exterior.

Walter R. Rath.

Kenneth S. Rath.

Harold E. Rath.

Herbert A. Rath.

Percy F. Rath.

CHILDREN AND BROTHERS OF JOHN.—THE RATHS' STORY. (See page 19.)

RATH BROTHERS WHO AID TO ESCAPE SPYBROKERS.

THE following photograph, representing the Raths' in prison, was obtained from documentary on the right and General von Ludendorff on the left, was taken from a German archive, and the one by Wasserkubus A. Nether of the PRIME Prison to the father in Berlin.

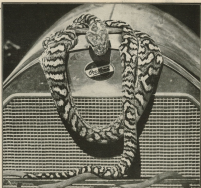

ON THE THAMES RIVER AT LONDON.

—C. W. Barrett photo.

CHILDREN IN GUANTANAMO.

Laura Arthur Kammela, with 11 months' old daughter, posing for a portrait of America with the mother in the quarantine camp at Guantanamo. The boy next her was the father. The photograph taken from across the water just before the arrival in Belgium was indicated.

SNAKE EYES.

This fine specimen of a serpent under the sun was for a party named under the name of Kammela, one of Kammela's many names. One that remained was not collected (a tag is) and it was finally disposed of by the company of the rat. The other snake that he had for some money, but he never found one. By Billie M. and R. Stone photo.

LOOKING UPON THE CAMP.

Belgian Quarantine Agents waiting from the tender Doree at Kammela's Hotel Military Hospital. This scene has become a familiar one during the last few weeks.

—G. White photo.